FROM MY DESK TO YOURS

Good Afternoon!

We are fast approaching the Thanksgiving Holiday and the end of the Fall Semester. Although we are experiencing very difficult economic times and some degree of uncertainty about the teaching and learning support we will be afforded in the near future, we must remain mindful of the plight of those who are much less fortunate. Let us be thankful for our good friends, families, co-workers, and students. May the remainder of this week before Thanksgiving be as productive as possible and especially characteristic of the days that remain in the Fall Semester.

The Fall Break should be a time for reflection, recreation, and relaxation, but most of all, a time to give thanks for our health and good fortune. We will do well to expect excellence and experience success in all that we do. Thanks again for your special efforts!

Happy Thanksgiving,

Ex^3 S

2010 Spring Adoptions

Mr. Charles E. Sims, Interim Managing Director for Auxem Solutions Group, will meet with the ASU Follett representative to develop a formal communication strategy regarding adoption and the financial impact of non-compliance. A key component of this strategy will be to provide timely information and to ensure total compliance.

A presentation titled "The Importance of Early Adoption and the HEOA Guidelines," will be scheduled at a later date and time.

If you have not turned in your adoptions for the Spring 2010 semester, please do so ASAP.
